

WEST AUSTRALIAN
NEWSPAPER

SAT 14TH JUNE

Shower curtain fears

PETER KERR

The Australian Consumer and Competition Commission will follow up a report which showed that vinyl curtains sold at major US retailers emitted toxic chemicals that had been linked to serious health problems.

The curtains contained high concentrations of chemicals linked to liver damage as well as damage to the central nervous, respiratory and reproductive systems, according to researchers at the Centre for Health, Environment and Justice in Virginia.